

Great news: We're launching a new program to help all fire and emergency services personnel achieve a respected college degree, working in partnership with College for America at Southern New Hampshire University.

Learn more or sign up here: <http://collegeforamerica.org/nhfire>

College for America at SNHU is a nonprofit, accredited school offering unique and extraordinarily affordable associate's and bachelor's degrees that are built just for working adults:

- Extraordinarily affordable. Tuition is just $2,500 a year—as much as 75% less than a typical college degree. There are no additional fees. Aid or financing options available.
- Built for the real world. Learn through interesting online projects, not traditional courses and lectures. Develop real-world skills to bring success in your job and career.
- Flexible and self-paced. In areas where you already have strong knowledge, you'll be able to move fast, so you can more quickly get to the parts where you want to spend more time. You'll work on your own schedule at a self-directed pace.

Degree options include fields such as healthcare management, communications, and general studies with a concentration in business. The opportunity is also available to immediate family members.

Please visit collegeforamerica.org/nhfire to learn more and sign-up for an information session in person or online.

Sincerely,
Deborah Pendergast
Director NH Fire Academy Director of Fire Standards Training & EMS

PS: Several NH firefighters enrolled at College for America through a pilot program earlier this year, and we're already seeing great results—only six months into the program, one lieutenant and dispatcher is almost halfway done with earning his associate's degree. Learn how you can find this success here.